TEACHING WITH SPACE INSERVICE - "Space the Final Frontier"
12 November, 8:30 a.m.- 3:30 p.m.
Clearfield High School, Room S-26
931 S 1000 E, Clearfield, UT

On Saturday, 12 Nov 2005, Utah AFA AEF will again be sponsoring a one-day "Teaching With Space" teacher symposium at Clearfield High School Air Force JROTC classroom. The program is designed primarily for Utah 6th grade teachers who are involved in teaching "space" as part of the G-6 science "core." However, others who teach "space" K-12 are welcome to apply. Attendance is limited to 40.

Teachers will receive an exciting up-to-date presentation of cognitive and hands-on space activities for teaching the principles of space travel and physiology. Participants will receive:

- In-service completion certificate for seven hours "seat time" for seven USOE re-licensure points.
- $50.00 cash stipend paid at the event;
- Outstanding hands-on curriculum aids!

The Utah AEF has contracted Lisa Ogle, a traveling NASA educator, to provide a day of fun-filled, hands-on training, to be taken back to your classroom. The program will provide focus and content on humans in space and practical "teaching space" applications, instructional "helps", curriculum and teaching aids, ideas and techniques that translate easily into better classroom instruction. Our several symposiums have been very well received, with "Best in-service I've ever been to," -type comments regularly heard.

Arrival refreshments will be provided in the morning. We will break for an, "on your own," short lunch. You may want to "brown bag" it to enjoy more time with colleagues in this great learning experience.

Utah AEF provides the instructor and individual attendee stipends and sees this as a small, but important, way to acknowledge and reward teachers willing to sacrifice a Saturday, provides the $50 (cash!) stipend.

If you have questions, contact: Salt Lake City & south - Andy Clark (andrew.clark@slc.k12.ut.us); Davis County and north - Kit Workman (kworkman1@aol.com).
